QUESTION MARK AIMS TO BREAK ALL RECORDS

MAY REMAIN IN AIR FOR SEVERAL DAYS

MOTORS ARE FUNCTIONING PERFECTLY. CREW IN FINE SHAPE

REFUELING AND PROVISIONING CARRIED OUT METHODICALLY

Los Angeles, Jan. 5.—(UP)—Conditions aboard the Question Mark were so favorable today that the army endurance plane once again resumed its original flying course between Metropolitan Field and Van Nuys and Rockwell Field at San Diego.

This 257-mile round trip was abandoned yesterday because Major Carl Spatz, flight commander, felt that the Question Mark had better remain near Van Nuys where it must land to be credited with the sustained flight records it has broken.

The decision again to make San Diego and Van Nuys the terminals for the flight indicated that Major Spatz was convinced the Question Mark would remain in the air perhaps for several days and that its motor and crew were in excellent shape.

It turned south for Rockwell field shortly before 9:30 A. M.

A message from one of the five men on the Question Mark said the crew was happy and carefree.

"Please send up a wash-basin," he wrote. "We have all gone four days without washing. We are dirty but we like it."

At another point he penned: "Last night's dinner was marvelous. We hope there are more like it. We are like contented cows (no milk, however). Lt. Estrada spends most of his time answering fan mail."

Major Spatz praised the work of the ground crews and the men on the refueling ships.

Los Angeles, Jan. 5.—(UP)—Encountering the best flying weather since it started its test, the trimotored army plane Question Mark was cruising over San Fernando valley today, apparently certain to exceed all sustained flight marks for every kind of aircraft.

The Wright motors of the craft were running smoothly and the crew was happy and rested after the most peaceful night since the ship took off Tuesday from Metropolitan airport at Van Nuys.

The Question Mark passed its 96th consecutive hour in the air at 7:26:45 A. M., with its immediate goal the 118 hour world's endurance record of the French dirigible Dixmude.

The army plane will reach that line just before 5:30 A. M. Sunday and an hour later will be credited with having remained in continuous flight longer than any other craft in history.

Already the Question Mark holds the endurance mark for heavier-than-air machines and is adding hourly to that record.

At 10:30 tonight the Question Mark will equal the time of the Graf Zeppelin on its trip to the United States, 111 hours, not a record.

A record which the plane has broken but for which it will not receive credit is the distance of 4,417 miles, set by Capt. Arturo Ferrarin and Major Carlo Del Prete in a flight from Italy to Brazil.

Estimates place the Question Mark's distance to date in excess of 6,000 miles. Because of competitive rules which demand flight over a measured course, the Question Mark has eliminated itself in the matter of distance.

Army officials at Van Nuys field were elated with the outlook today, especially as it concerned the weather, the greatest foe of the Question Mark to date. Fog and bumpy air previously handicapped the flight and made especially difficult the task of refueling the endurance ship.

The Question Mark took on 150 gallons of gasoline shortly after daybreak and half an hour later received 30 gallons of oil and breakfast for its crew. The contacts were made without trouble.

The best time yet made in refueling was credited to No. 1 supply ship, manned by Capt. Ross Hoyt and Lieutenants A. C. Strickland and I. A. Woodring. Lieut. Woodring is a member of the army's famous stunt flying group, the "Three Musketeers."

All members of the college of surgeons, every hospital that measures up to the standards of the society and several medical schools will aid in gathering the material.

DAWN AND STAY OF EXECUTION COMES TO PAIR

NEW LEASE OF LIFE FOR MRS. ADA BONNER LE BOEUF AND DR. THOS. DREHER

TWO HAD BEEN SCHEDULED TO HANG AT FRANKLIN, LA., TODAY

Franklin, La., Jan. 5.—(UP)—To make more positive a stay of execution granted Mrs. Ada Bonner Le Boeuf and Dr. Thomas Dreher by a supreme court justice last night, Governor Huey P. Long today granted the couple a week's reprieve.

Governor Long's reprieve came close on the heels of Judge Charles A. O'Neill's stay of execution granted after a hectic session of five supreme court justices at New Orleans last night.

The fact that some dispute arose as to the authority of Chief Justice O'Neill to stay the execution in the face of dissenting votes from his four associates is thought to have prompted Governor Long to act.

The alleged lovers, condemned to have hanged here this afternoon for the murder of the woman's husband 18 months ago, were happy today even in the brief respite granted them.

Mrs. LeBoeuf, who had spent a restless night, heard the approach of the deputy and inquired anxiously: "Have you any news?"

"Yes, good news," replied the deputy and then told her of the stay. "Thank God for that much anyway," said the woman as she collapsed on the cot and covered her face with her hands.

Dr. Dreher was asleep when the deputy entered his cell and aroused him.

"Wake up? What for?"

When told of the action of Judge O'Neill, he said: "Thank God! I thank God there is some mercy in the world."

Baton Rouge, La., Jan. 5.—Gov. Huey P. Long today rescinded his order granting a week's reprieve to Mrs. Ada LeBoeuf and Dr. Thomas E. Dreher, sentenced to hang at Franklin today.

The announcement was made at the executive offices of the governor shortly after 9 A. M. today. No reason was given at the time for the governor's action.

Gov. Long, it is thought, rescinded his order after deciding that the stay of execution granted by Chief Justice Charles A. O'Neill of the state supreme court at New Orleans last night, was binding, making the governor's reprieve unnecessary.

field just at midnight and returned to the field 28 minutes later. In that brief time, it found the Question Mark, contacted it for six minutes, transferred 200 gallons of gasoline, broke contact, and then landed.

Members of No. 2 refueler, which passed gasoline at daybreak, reported that the crew of the Question Mark appeared to be in much better spirits today.

Due to fog and bad air, they received little sleep Thursday night, but last night all hands had plenty of rest.

Farm Representatives Will Seek Tariff Increases On at Least 150 Farm Products

WILL PRESENT DEMANDS TO SPECIAL SESSION

FARM BUREAU WILL CONFER WITH HOUSE WAYS AND MEANS COMMITTEE

WANTS BILL TO COVER THINGS "RUNNING FROM ALFALFA TO YAMS"

Washington, Jan. 4.—(UP)—Farm representatives will seek tariff increases on at least 150 agricultural commodities, from the proposed special session of congress this spring.

The American Farm Bureau Federation disclosed today it will have representatives before the house ways and means committee, which opens tariff hearings Monday, looking toward drafting of a bill to be presented to the special session, for products "running all the way from alfalfa to yams."

Chester H. Gray, Washington representative of the federation, asserted his organization would resist any attempt to separate the inter-related questions of farm relief and tariff. Consequently, both should be taken up at the special session, according to his view.

Giant Star Betelgeuse is Hottest Thing in Whole Universe

Chicago, Jan. 5.—(UP)—The giant star, Betelgeuse, besides being 27,000,000 times as big as the sun, also is the hottest thing in the universe, the latest issue of the Astrophysical Journal, published by the University of Chicago, said today.

Some of the heat generated by Betelgeuse, reaches the earth although the quantity was not known until the thermocouple was invented. The thermocouple is a small device, being one one-thousandth as big as a drop of water yet it registered one-sixtieth of a degree of heat from the vast distant star, the Journal said.

The thermocouple was made under a microscope and was used by Dr. Edison Pettit and Seth Nicholson to measure the heat from 134 stars.

AUSTIN LLOYD, WAHKON BOY, PERISHES IN FIRE

FARM HOME WAS DESTROYED BY FLAMES EARLY TODAY

3 OTHER PERSONS SO SERIOUSLY BURNED THEY MAY NOT RECOVER

Isle, Minn., Jan. 5.—(UP)—Austin Lloyd, 14-year-old Wahkon farm boy perished in a fire which destroyed his home here early today and three other persons were so seriously burned that they may not recover.

Austin, apparently terror-stricken, was unable to make his way from the burning structure despite the cries of encouragement by Mrs. Emil Hallsten and her twin sons, Clarence and Norman, all three of whom were badly burned.

Mrs. Hallsten and her 16-year-old sons, neighbors of the Lloyds, were invited to spend the night in the Lloyd home when at the conclusion of a call it was discovered that a storm raged outside.

The neighbor woman was awakened early in the morning by the smell of smoke. She awakened her own boys and Austin and tried to get them from the building. The twins leaped from a window and Mrs. Hallsten ran down a burning stairway but the terror-stricken Austin was unable to escape.

Mrs. Hallsten and her sons were brought to the Millie Lacs hospital here. They were still in a serious condition shortly after noon.

DEFENSE IN NORTHCOTT CASE IN LONG FIGHT

SEEKS TO PLACE WOMEN ON JURY AT RIVERSIDE CALIFORNIA

NORTHCOTT CHARGED WITH ASSAULTED SLAYINGS OF THREE BOYS

Riverside, Calif., Jan. 5.—(UP)—With 17 peremptory challenges still unused, the defense in the murder trial of Gordon Stewart Northcott today was prepared to make a prolonged fight to place women on the jury that will try him for the asserted slayings of three boys.

There was only a panel of 30 men available during the first two days of questioning, but as the number rapidly shrank it became necessary to order a special venire on which the defense feels certain there will be women.

Norbert Savay, chief defense counsel, said that he would use all 20 of his challenges in an effort to exclude as many men as possible from the 20 jurors that are finally seated.

The defense apparently intends to make a strong play for sympathy through women jurors and the proposed testimony of Northcott's mother, who is now serving a life term for the confessed murder of Walter Collins.

After his present trial for the murder of an unidentified Mexican youth and Lewis and Nelson Winslow, Northcott must be tried also on the Collins indictment, in which he was named jointly with his mother.

How strong an insanity defense Northcott will make cannot be determined until after the commission of three alienists appointed by the court, reports its findings.

Additional deaths are expected before the epidemic has passed, as United States public health service officials estimate more than 800,000 persons are now ill of "flu."

HOOVER AS TACITURN AS EVER ON SHIP

MAINTAINS CHARACTERISTIC SILENCE ON THINGS POLITICAL

BATTLESHIP UTAH IS NEARING HAMPTON ROADS TODAY

By THOMAS L. STOKES

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Aboard U. S. S. Utah, en route to Hampton Roads, Va., Jan. 5.—President-elect Herbert Hoover maintained his characteristic silence on things political as the Utah neared Hampton Roads today.

At noon, the Utah was about 275 miles from Hampton Roads where it will anchor at 8 A. M. tomorrow. Two hours later Mr. Hoover and his party will board a special train for Washington.

The president-elect and those who made the South American trip with him were busy packing today.

As the ship neared the United States, the minds of those aboard turned from international to domestic politics. They began to discuss the Jones prohibition investigation resolution and Senator Snell's prediction that there would be no farm relief.

These were considered two of the problems that will face Mr. Hoover early in his administration.

Rough weather that the Utah encountered yesterday had subsided today and the big battleship was steaming through quiet seas under fair skies.

CAPTAIN MAY SAFELY MADE ARCTIC FLIGHT

BROUGHT DIPHTHERIA ANTI-TOXIN SERUM TO STRICKEN COMMUNITY

TODAY SAFELY BACK IN PEACE RIVER AND ON WAY TO EDMONTON

Edmonton, Alberta, Jan. 5.—(UP)—Captain Wilfred May, courageous war flyer who made a perilous dash to settlements in the far north with diphtheria anti-toxin serum, was today safely back in Peace River and may be in Edmonton before nightfall.

Captain May, and his companion, Victor Horner, reported that they experienced little difficulty in their flight to Fort Vermillion and Little Red River where diphtheria threatened the lives of 250 inhabitants.

The disease had already been checked, with the loss of only one life, the flyers reported from Peace River, where they landed Friday night on their return journey.

Captain May and his companion took off from Edmonton Wednesday with their precious cargo upon receipt of a message from Fort Vermillion that A. Logan, Hudson Bay company factor at Little Red River had died from diphtheria and the lives of others were threatened.

The flyers made the 650-mile journey in sub-zero weather and under poor visibility conditions. Flights had never before been attempted in winter to the trading posts visited by the "messengers of mercy."

OPPOSITION NOW DEMANDS RESERVATIONS

SPECIALLY LIMITING TREATY FROM APPLICATION TO MONROE DOCTRINE

SAFEGUARDING ALSO ALL TRADITIONAL AMERICAN FOREIGN POLICIES

By PAUL R. MALLON

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Jan. 5.—The defense rested temporarily its case for the Kellogg anti-war treaty and the opposition took the floor to demand reservations specially limiting the world pact from application to traditional American foreign policies such as the Monroe doctrine.

Adherents of the pact concluded their presentation of direct evidence with two day speech of Chairman William E. Borah of the foreign relations committee, the artful debater who withstood the barbed questions of the reservationists and the democrats who took the position either that the treaty is worthless or that it is full of meanings which will involve this country in European affairs.

The evidence of the defense against reservations was based upon Borah's statement that the treaty gives each nation the right of self defense and permits each nation to determine what it considers self defense. To the democrats who have expressed doubts as to the value of the treaty, he said:

"I think it is a stupendous thing when the nations of the world sign a treaty pledging themselves to seek pacific means of settling their disputes. We have been saturated with the idea that there is nothing in international affairs unless it is backed by an army and a navy. I venture to say the greatest factor in international affairs is the moral force of mankind and this treaty proposes to organize that force."

The session today was to be short. The master minds of the reservationists, Senators Reed of Missouri and Moses of New Hampshire, will not undertake to present their lengthy views until next week. While Borah expects a vote within a week there is evidence that the debate is extending its scope.

In recent years the senate has never had such crowds in the galleries and has followed the debate for the last two days. Petitions from organizations throughout the country pleading for ratification and for the naval cruiser bill have heightened the interest of all senators.

Washington, Jan. 5.—Irreconcilables held off their opening attack on the Kellogg anti-war treaty today to enable Senator Claude A. Swanson, the Virginian, to define the democratic attitude toward the pact.

In a long speech opening the third day of debate, Swanson characterized the treaty as a feeble step toward peace but a step in the right direction which he endorsed. He did not mention the unofficial reservations which the irreconcilables have proposed.

Swanson held the British reservations expressed in notes were gentlemanly agreements and as such would have to be accepted in good faith as official reservations to the treaty. He agreed with Borah the Monroe doctrine could not in any way be affected by the pact.

The democratic spokesman in international affairs differed with Borah about the worth of the treaty. He said it could not have prevented the world war because all nations involved contended that was a war of self defense and the treaty permits wars of self defense.

The irreconcilables were willing an advocate of the treaty should occupy the floor ahead of them because their force is not yet strong enough to debate as long as they would like to.

While the senate was listening to Swanson the house was engaged in a hot debate on the $75,000,000 tax refunds planned by the treasury department. The democrats led by Garner of Texas and Byrnes of Tennessee protested against the refund appropriation provided in the first deficiency appropriation bill.

The war department bill was shelved temporarily for this debate.

MAINTAINS CHARACTERISTIC SILENCE ON THINGS POLITICAL

BATTLESHIP UTAH IS NEARING HAMPTON ROADS TODAY

By THOMAS L. STOKES

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Aboard U. S. S. Utah, en route to Hampton Roads, Va., Jan. 5.—President-elect Herbert Hoover maintained his characteristic silence on things political as the Utah neared Hampton Roads today.

At noon, the Utah was about 275 miles from Hampton Roads where it will anchor at 8 A. M. tomorrow. Two hours later Mr. Hoover and his party will board a special train for Washington.

The president-elect and those who made the South American trip with him were busy packing today.

As the ship neared the United States, the minds of those aboard turned from international to domestic politics. They began to discuss the Jones prohibition investigation resolution and Senator Snell's prediction that there would be no farm relief.

These were considered two of the problems that will face Mr. Hoover early in his administration.

Rough weather that the Utah encountered yesterday had subsided today and the big battleship was steaming through quiet seas under fair skies.

CAPTAIN MAY SAFELY MADE ARCTIC FLIGHT

BROUGHT DIPHTHERIA ANTI-TOXIN SERUM TO STRICKEN COMMUNITY

TODAY SAFELY BACK IN PEACE RIVER AND ON WAY TO EDMONTON

Edmonton, Alberta, Jan. 5.—(UP)—Captain Wilfred May, courageous war flyer who made a perilous dash to settlements in the far north with diphtheria anti-toxin serum, was today safely back in Peace River and may be in Edmonton before nightfall.

Captain May, and his companion, Victor Horner, reported that they experienced little difficulty in their flight to Fort Vermillion and Little Red River where diphtheria threatened the lives of 250 inhabitants.

The disease had already been checked, with the loss of only one life, the flyers reported from Peace River, where they landed Friday night on their return journey.

Captain May and his companion took off from Edmonton Wednesday with their precious cargo upon receipt of a message from Fort Vermillion that A. Logan, Hudson Bay company factor at Little Red River had died from diphtheria and the lives of others were threatened.

The flyers made the 650-mile journey in sub-zero weather and under poor visibility conditions. Flights had never before been attempted in winter to the trading posts visited by the "messengers of mercy."

OPPOSITION NOW DEMANDS RESERVATIONS

SPECIALLY LIMITING TREATY FROM APPLICATION TO MONROE DOCTRINE

SAFEGUARDING ALSO ALL TRADITIONAL AMERICAN FOREIGN POLICIES

By PAUL R. MALLON

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Jan. 5.—The defense rested temporarily its case for the Kellogg anti-war treaty and the opposition took the floor to demand reservations specially limiting the world pact from application to traditional American foreign policies such as the Monroe doctrine.

Adherents of the pact concluded their presentation of direct evidence with two day speech of Chairman William E. Borah of the foreign relations committee, the artful debater who withstood the barbed questions of the reservationists and the democrats who took the position either that the treaty is worthless or that it is full of meanings which will involve this country in European affairs.

The evidence of the defense against reservations was based upon Borah's statement that the treaty gives each nation the right of self defense and permits each nation to determine what it considers self defense. To the democrats who have expressed doubts as to the value of the treaty, he said:

"I think it is a stupendous thing when the nations of the world sign a treaty pledging themselves to seek pacific means of settling their disputes. We have been saturated with the idea that there is nothing in international affairs unless it is backed by an army and a navy. I venture to say the greatest factor in international affairs is the moral force of mankind and this treaty proposes to organize that force."

The session today was to be short. The master minds of the reservationists, Senators Reed of Missouri and Moses of New Hampshire, will not undertake to present their lengthy views until next week. While Borah expects a vote within a week there is evidence that the debate is extending its scope.

In recent years the senate has never had such crowds in the galleries and has followed the debate for the last two days. Petitions from organizations throughout the country pleading for ratification and for the naval cruiser bill have heightened the interest of all senators.

Washington, Jan. 5.—Irreconcilables held off their opening attack on the Kellogg anti-war treaty today to enable Senator Claude A. Swanson, the Virginian, to define the democratic attitude toward the pact.

In a long speech opening the third day of debate, Swanson characterized the treaty as a feeble step toward peace but a step in the right direction which he endorsed. He did not mention the unofficial reservations which the irreconcilables have proposed.

Swanson held the British reservations expressed in notes were gentlemanly agreements and as such would have to be accepted in good faith as official reservations to the treaty. He agreed with Borah the Monroe doctrine could not in any way be affected by the pact.

The democratic spokesman in international affairs differed with Borah about the worth of the treaty. He said it could not have prevented the world war because all nations involved contended that was a war of self defense and the treaty permits wars of self defense.

The irreconcilables were willing an advocate of the treaty should occupy the floor ahead of them because their force is not yet strong enough to debate as long as they would like to.

While the senate was listening to Swanson the house was engaged in a hot debate on the $75,000,000 tax refunds planned by the treasury department. The democrats led by Garner of Texas and Byrnes of Tennessee protested against the refund appropriation provided in the first deficiency appropriation bill.

The war department bill was shelved temporarily for this debate.

EVANGELISTIC CAMPAIGN

Sunday Evening Service at First Baptist Church Marks Opening

The Sunday evening service of the First Baptist church will be the beginning of the evangelistic campaign which will continue for three weeks. It is expected that this will be the best series of meetings ever held in the church. A week of special prayer has been held in preparation for the campaign, and the people of the church are looking confidently for a time of rich blessing.

The evangelist, Rev. R. L. Hall, is one of the outstanding ministers of the state, and an evangelist of wide experience. His success in other places in reaching and interesting all classes of people promises well for his work here. The uniqueness of his work lies in the fact that he believes in both public and house to house evangelism. He combines the mass evangelism methods of Billy Sunday and Gypsy Smith with the visitation methods of Kernahan, and thus secures a two fold result.

The people of Brainerd are cordially invited to attend these meetings. There will be special music, good singing, and sound preaching in all of the meetings. Sunday evening many will wish to hear the evangelist in his first message, and all are urged to come to this. Those who are not connected with any church especially are the ones who are most urgently invited to attend.

EVANGELISTIC CAMPAIGN

Sunday Evening Service at First Baptist Church Marks Opening

The Sunday evening service of the First Baptist church will be the beginning of the evangelistic campaign which will continue for three weeks. It is expected that this will be the best series of meetings ever held in the church. A week of special prayer has been held in preparation for the campaign, and the people of the church are looking confidently for a time of rich blessing.

The evangelist, Rev. R. L. Hall, is one of the outstanding ministers of the state, and an evangelist of wide experience. His success in other places in reaching and interesting all classes of people promises well for his work here. The uniqueness of his work lies in the fact that he believes in both public and house to house evangelism. He combines the mass evangelism methods of Billy Sunday and Gypsy Smith with the visitation methods of Kernahan, and thus secures a two fold result.

The people of Brainerd are cordially invited to attend these meetings. There will be special music, good singing, and sound preaching in all of the meetings. Sunday evening many will wish to hear the evangelist in his first message, and all are urged to come to this. Those who are not connected with any church especially are the ones who are most urgently invited to attend.

JOBS FOR ALL

A NATION as the master of its economic destiny, conquering the ever-recurring jobless periods which have marked the past, was portrayed to the American Association for Labor Legislation by Prof. Frank G. Dickinson, professor of economics of the University of Illinois, says an exchange. This possibility, he felt, was near at hand, and he hoped for it within the administration of Herbert Hoover.

Public work, such as the new high school building project in Brainerd, serves to tide over dull periods in the building industry. In the same manner, in a national sense, public work as a prosperity reserve, the plan of Mr. Hoover recently announced by Ralph O. Brewster, governor of Maine, has been warmly endorsed by Prof. Dickinson. He estimated that construction reserve of four billion dollars could stabilize employment in the period of 1929 to 1935.

"The question of stabilizing employment is also the problem of stabilizing production and consumption—in fact, all business activity," declared Prof. Dickinson. "The twentieth century can make no greater contribution to progress than the conquest of these persistent fluctuations in employment. The evils of unemployment are well known and deplored by everyone. Yet we fail to make use of a remedy close at hand."

The shifting of public work from year to year, he thought one of the most admirable features of the Hoover plan. It has been well said, he pointed out, that the "only way to prevent depressions is to prevent prosperity."

"This shifting of public construction out of the prosperous years," he said, "would make prosperity less rampant and less productive of depressions."

"Unlike many persons who favor the long-range planning of public work," he continued, "we find nothing indicating reduced costs of construction. The whole program must be urged upon the grounds of stabilizing employment. Every plan that stabilizes employment also will tend to stabilize sales, production, and consumption; in fact, the whole business and industrial world will be benefited. These benefits are worth while even if they cost the nation something. Our conclusion is that this plan would probably cost neither more nor less than the present method of letting contracts."

DEFEAT SHOWS QUALITY OF AN INDIVIDUAL

THE quality of an individual is more clearly shown when he bumps up against defeat, rather than when he is a winner, sagely remarks the St. Cloud Daily Journal-Press.

William Howard Taft was the worst defeated candidate for president running for a second term of any man in American history, yet he accepted the result with so much good nature, that he gained the admiration of all citizens, and he is today one of the most admired men of the nation, as chief justice of the supreme court of the United States.

Roosevelt accepted defeat less gracefully, but he had that type of personality that made him both enthusiastic friends and strong enemies.

Gov. Smith of New York, who has to his credit a long string of political successes, second only to the remarkable record of election victories of Calvin Coolidge, has turned over the administration of New York state to the man he selected as his successor, and announces his readiness to serve his state and country as a loyal private citizen. He has won general admiration by his manly acceptance of the verdict of the people. He is a very remarkable man, and his excellent record as governor for four terms of New York will give him a high place among the statesmen of the country. He is entitled to the good will of everybody, as a man and fellow citizen.

"DAD" ATKINSON WRITES 30

CLAUDE M. "DAD" ATKINSON, one of the best known newspaper men of northern Minnesota, passed away at Litchfield last Thursday, succumbing to an attack of influenza.

He had originally gone to Litchfield with his son, Marc, to organize a paper, the Litchfield News-Herald and had then disposed of his interests. At Hibbing he had conducted for many years the Hibbing Daily News. At one time, in the boom days of the Cuyuna iron range, he owned the Crosby Crucible, which was established by his son and himself in 1913. This paper later became the Crosby Courier.

Mr. Atkinson had a trenchant style and his writings and editorial comments used such plain language that one was never in doubt as to his meaning. He did very little "beating around the bush," but approached his subject directly.

He was a lover of Minnesota's beauties and his articles describing the state are among the most popular of his numerous writings.

HEARST and Durant are trying to reach an entente on the liquor question. Durant offered a prize for the best essay on enforcement and Hearst starts out with a prize offer for the best way to reduce the 18th amendment to a matter of temperance. If there is a special session of congress, the prohibition question bids fair to be a matter of discussion, insofar as improved methods of enforcement will no doubt be considered.

THE Ten Thousand Lakes-Greater Minnesota association will increase the membership of its advisory committee, consisting now of 50 members, to 100 members. The increase will give every county in the state representation in the organization. It is expected that R. R. Gould will be named on this advisory committee.

THE American Beet Sugar Company of Cheska during the last season paid farmers over half a million dollars for sugar beets. The Cheska plant utilized 80,000 tons of beets in the manufacture of 20,192,000 pounds of sugar.

THE Baudette Region has added a linotype to its equipment and the improvement has worked wonders in the typographical appearance of the paper.

SECRETARY OF COMMERCE WILLIAM F. WHITING has made public a most favorable statement on economic conditions and prospects for the coming year.

MUCH less snow has fallen this winter than last year. No hurry-up calls have been issued for snow plows.

Peaks of Desire

by Kane O'Day

CHAPTER LVI.

STEVE HARRISON, Ann knew, even if she nestled in his arms, was not the man to command her life. How odd life was! She was just beginning to understand that she had no heart to give—that her heart must be stormed and captured and taken. Women were not independent and cool-headed, giving their love where they decided—down through the ages they had been creatures of conquest—had surrendered with a great cosmic certainty, to strength.

She made a move to disengage herself from his embrace and he let her go. His arms might have held her, had he so desired, but the will power and vigor of his desire were too weak. He had had his chance and he was afraid of it. "Sometimes, may be you'll change," he said. "I'll wait as long as you like."

"What the use of waiting for anything," she responded. "I'm that way—I can wait."

"I'm afraid it's no use."

"Is it because of—of Jerry Dunn?"

Ann was silent. While she might discuss Steve with Jerry she could not discuss Jerry with Steve. There was a difference. And, at the present, she could hardly bear to think of love with another man when she was so fresh from the arms of Steve Harrison. A humiliation burned like acid in her blood—that she could so cheapen herself by surrendering up the shell of herself to the embrace of a man whose power resided in her own obscured desires and not in his authority over her.

"What do you want me to do?" he asked helplessly. "If you haven't spent your money, I want you to buy back your truck and continue on as you did before."

"You'll give me my chance again?"

"Oh, let's don't talk about it any more," Ann said with a flash of irritation. "I thought about you and talked it over with you until I'm worn out with it, Steve. I'll get you out of my mind presently and we'll simply swear off."

"But I can see you sometimes—"

"You'll let me walk home with you?"

"Yes, yes," she said hastily. "But why don't you go back to Maizie? If you saw more of her you'd think less about me and probably have a whole lot more love."

"Maizie can't see me anymore," Steve said. "She's crazy about you."

"No she ain't. I was so restless after I left you last night that I went to her house and she wasn't even glad to see me. We talked for awhile and she's all for that fellow Dunn. I think she fell in love with him."

"What nonsense!" Ann said sharply. "I can't help it—it's true," Steve insisted. "He's going to take her out of the factory and pay her bills at a boarding school. It looks like he's trying to make a lady out of her the same as you tried to make a gentleman out of me. He's sending her away next week—and I don't give a damn."

Abruptly, Ann felt a stinging hurt. She had no just grounds to criticize either Jerry or Maizie in the matter but, in an indefinable way she felt that Jerry had deceived her. If he had contemplated the elevation of Maizie he should have told her. She would have told him everything about Steve if he had only let her talk that night in his room, but he himself had been too busy talking about Maizie to give ear to the problems that were racking her nerves.

"Did Maizie tell you she was in love with Jerry?" she demanded swiftly of Steve.

"She didn't say that exactly."

"Did she say HE was in love with her?"

"She said he was awfully good to her and was sending her off to school. I guess that only means one thing. Why should he give her an education unless it was because he wanted to introduce her as his wife among his swell friends?"

The idea sickened Ann. "Well, it's no affair of mine. We've had our little talk, Steve, and I think we're both better off. We can still be friends, can't we?"

She extended her hand and he clasped it briefly in his huge paw. "You saved me from making an awful fool out of myself," he said humbly. "I'm going to try to do everything you say, but I can't promise to quit loving you."

"You'll get over it," she told him with a smile as she opened the door and let him go.

When he was gone the buoyancy drained out of her heart and she sat down at Pagalo's desk and buried her face in her arms. What was it all about? And why this now, alarming ache in her heart? Involuntarily, words came to her lips from out of her subconsciousness.

"That girl!" It was no good telling herself that Jerry's business was his own; that he was free to do as he pleased. Even so, it hurt. What kind of a fool was she making of herself? Her sense of the ridiculous told her that it was perfectly silly for her to be wrought up over Jerry's action when, just a little while before, she had been tremendously agitated by Steve. What was going on in her soul? Self-respect demanded that she deny an inner accusation that she merged upon a promiscuous act of affection. No, that was not the truth. All of this, she tried to believe, was a ferment of emotion, an upheaval of feeling that would presently subside and leave her clearer, more collected.

"I've been seeing too much of men—too intimately," she told herself. "Living under the same roof with them and with no restraints has begun to break down my resistance. Maybe the old-fashioned conventions are right, after all. When you see too much of men and get too close to them you just get to be plain downright simple. You've got to keep them at their distance if you want to come out safe."

And then, immediately after her well-intentioned philosophy she knew that she was alive with eagerness to see Jerry and reproach him—ever so subtly—for his strange alliance with Maizie Thompson. If his feeling for her should be transferred to another girl Ann felt that scarcely anything worth while would be left in life.

While she was realizing this she was, simultaneously calling herself a fool.

"The twentieth century can make no greater contribution to progress than the conquest of these persistent fluctuations in employment. The evils of unemployment are well known and deplored by everyone. Yet we fail to make use of a remedy close at hand."

The shifting of public work from year to year, he thought one of the most admirable features of the Hoover plan. It has been well said, he pointed out, that the "only way to prevent depressions is to prevent prosperity."

"This shifting of public construction out of the prosperous years," he said, "would make prosperity less rampant and less productive of depressions."

"Unlike many persons who favor the long-range planning of public work," he continued, "we find nothing indicating reduced costs of construction. The whole program must be urged upon the grounds of stabilizing employment. Every plan that stabilizes employment also will tend to stabilize sales, production, and consumption; in fact, the whole business and industrial world will be benefited. Those benefits are worth while even if they cost the nation something. Our conclusion is that this plan would probably cost neither more nor less than the present method of letting contracts."

DEFEAT SHOWS QUALITY OF AN INDIVIDUAL

THE quality of an individual is more clearly shown when he bumps up against defeat, rather than when he is a winner, sagely remarks the St. Cloud Daily Journal-Press.

William Howard Taft was the worst defeated candidate for president running for a second term of any man in American history, yet he accepted the result with so much good nature, that he gained the admiration of all citizens, and he is today one of the most admired men of the nation, as chief justice of the supreme court of the United States.

Roosevelt accepted defeat less gracefully, but he had that type of personality that made him both enthusiastic friends and strong enemies.

Gov. Smith of New York, who has to his credit a long string of political successes, second only to the remarkable record of election victories of Calvin Coolidge, has turned over the administration of New York state to the man he selected as his successor, and announces his readiness to serve his state and country as a loyal private citizen. He has won general admiration by his manly acceptance of the verdict of the people. He is a very remarkable man, and his excellent record as governor for four terms of New York will give him a high place among the statesmen of the country. He is entitled to the good will of everybody, as a man and fellow citizen.

"DAD" ATKINSON WRITES 30

CLAUDE M. "DAD" ATKINSON, one of the best known newspaper men of northern Minnesota, passed away at Litchfield last Thursday, succumbing to an attack of influenza.

He had originally gone to Litchfield with his son, Marc, to organize a paper, the Litchfield News-Herald and had then disposed of his interests. At Hibbing he had conducted for many years the Hibbing Daily News. At one time, in the boom days of the Cuyuna iron range, he owned the Crosby Crucible, which was established by his son and himself in 1913. This paper later became the Crosby Courier.

Mr. Atkinson had a trenchant style and his writings and editorial comments used such plain language that one was never in doubt as to his meaning. He did very little "beating around the bush," but approached his subject directly.

He was a lover of Minnesota's beauties and his articles describing the state are among the most popular of his numerous writings.

HEARST and Durant are trying to reach an entente on the liquor question. Durant offered a prize for the best essay on enforcement and Hearst starts out with a prize offer for the best way to reduce the 18th amendment to a matter of temperance. If there is a special session of congress, the prohibition question bids fair to be a matter of discussion, insofar as improved methods of enforcement will no doubt be considered.

THE Ten Thousand Lakes-Greater Minnesota association will increase the membership of its advisory committee, consisting now of 50 members, to 100 members. The increase will give every county in the state representation in the organization. It is expected that R. R. Gould will be named on this advisory committee.

THE American Beet Sugar Company of Cheska during the last season paid farmers over half a million dollars for sugar beets. The Cheska plant utilized 80,000 tons of beets in the manufacture of 20,192,000 pounds of sugar.

THE Baudette Region has added a linotype to its equipment and the improvement has worked wonders in the typographical appearance of the paper.

SECRETARY OF COMMERCE WILLIAM F. WHITING has made public a most favorable statement on economic conditions and prospects for the coming year.

MUCH less snow has fallen this winter than last year. No hurry-up calls have been issued for snow plows.

Neil Hamilton is the reporter; William Austin, the society editor; Wheeler Oakman, the gang leader and Charles Hill Mailes, the politician.

Peaks of Desire

by Kane O'Day

CHAPTER XVI

STEVE HARRISON, Ann knew, even if she nestled in his arms, was not the man to command her life. How odd life was! She was just beginning to understand that she had no heart to give—that her heart must be stormed and captured and taken. Women were not independent and cool-headed, giving their love where they decided—down through the ages they had been creatures of conquest—had surrendered with a great cosmic certainty, to strength.

She made a move to disengage herself from his embrace and he let her go. His arms might have held her, had he so desired, but the will power and vigor of his desire were too weak. He had had his chance and he was afraid of it. "Sometime, maybe you'll change," he said. "I'll wait as long as you like."

"What's the use of waiting for anything," she responded. "I'm that way—I can wait."

"I'm afraid it's no use."

"It's because of—of Jerry Dunn?"

Ann was silent. While she might discuss Steve with Jerry she could not discuss Jerry with Steve. There was a difference. And, at the present, she could hardly bear to think of love with another man when she was so fresh from the arms of Steve Harrison. A humiliation burned like acid in her blood—that she could so cheapen herself by surrendering up the shell of herself to the embrace of a man whose power resided in her own obscured desires and not in his authority over her.

"What do you want me to do?" he asked helplessly.

"If you haven't spent your money, I want you to buy back your truck and continue on as you did before."

"You'll give me my chance again?"

"Oh, let's don't talk about it any more," Ann said with a flash of irritation. "I thought about you and talked it over with you until I'm worn out with it, Steve. I'll get you out of my mind presently and we'll simply swear off."

"But I can see you sometimes—"

you'll let me walk home with you."

"Yes, yes," she said hastily. "But why don't you go back to Maizie? If you saw more of her you'd think less about me and probably have a whole lot more love."

"Maizie can't see me anymore," Steve said.

"She's crazy about you."

"No she isn't. I was so restless after I left you last night that I went to her house and she wasn't even glad to see me. We talked for awhile and she's all for that fellow Dunn. I think she fell in love with him."

"What nonsense!" Ann said sharply.

"I can't help it—it's true," Steve insisted. "He's going to take her out of the factory and pay her bills at a boarding school. It looks like he's trying to make a lady out of her the same as you tried to make a gentleman out of me. He's sending her away next week—and I don't give a damn."

Abruptly, Ann felt a stinging hurt. She had no just grounds to criticize either Jerry or Maizie in the matter but, in an indefinable way she felt that Jerry had deceived her. If he had contemplated the elevation of Maizie he should have told her. She would have told him everything about Steve if he had only let her talk that night in his room, but he himself had been too busy talking about Maizie to give ear to the problems that were racking her nerves.

"Did Maizie tell you she was in love with Jerry?" she demanded swiftly of Steve.

"She didn't say that exactly."

"Did she say HE was in love with her?"

"She said he was awfully good to her and was sending her off to school. I guess that only means one thing. Why should he give her an education unless it was because he wanted to introduce her as his wife among his swell friends?"

The idea sickened Ann. "Well, it's no affair of mine. We've had our little talk, Steve, and I think we're both better off. We can still be friends, can't we?"

She extended her hand and he clasped it briefly in his huge paw.

"You saved me from making an awful fool out of myself," he said humbly. "I'm going to try to do everything you say, but I can't promise to quit loving you."

"You'll get over it," she told him with a smile as she opened the door and let him go.

When he was gone the buoyancy drained out of her heart and she sat down at Pagalo's desk and buried her face in her arms. What was it all about? And why this now, alarming ache in her heart? Involuntarily, words came to her lips from out of her subconsciousness.

"That girl!" It was no good telling herself that Jerry's business was his own; that he was free to do as he pleased. Even so, it hurt. What kind of a fool was she making of herself? Her sense of the ridiculous told her that it was perfectly silly for her to be wrought up over Jerry's action which, just little while before, she had been tremendously agitated by Steve. What was going on in her soul? Self-respect demanded that she deny an inner accusation that she merged upon a promiscuity of affection. No, that was not the truth. All of this, she tried to believe, was a ferment of emotion, an upheaval of feeling that would presently subside and leave her clearer, more collected.

"I've been seeing too much of men—too intimately," she told herself. "Living under the same roof with them and with no restraints has begun to break down my resistance. Maybe the old-fashioned conventions are right, after all. When you see too much of men and get too close to them you just get to be plain downright simple. You've got to keep them at their distance if you want to come out safe."

And then, immediately after her well-intentioned philosophy she knew that she was alive with eagerness to see Jerry and reproach him—ever so subtly—for his strange alliance with Maizie Thompson. If his feeling for her should be transferred to another girl Ann felt that scarcely anything worth while would be left in life.

While she was realizing this she was, simultaneously calling herself a fool.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY TO MEET JANUARY 10

Annual Meeting of County Organization to be Held in Court House, 8 P. M.

HISTORICAL DATA RECALLED

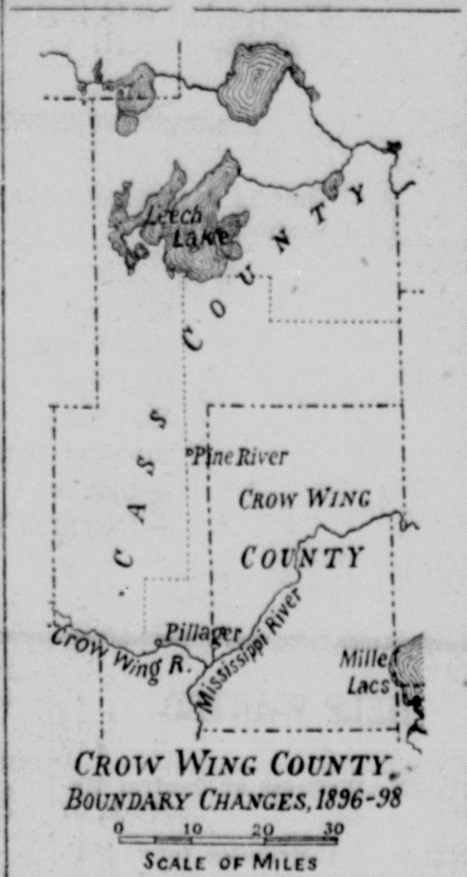

Descendants of Famous Trader Live Here; West Brainerd Once French Territory

The annual meeting of the Crow Wing County Historical society has been set by President S. R. Adair, for Thursday, January 10, at 8 P. M. at the Farmers' room in the court house. All members of the society and all residents of this county interested in local history are urged to be present. The annual dues are fifty cents, upon payment of which any resident can become a member.

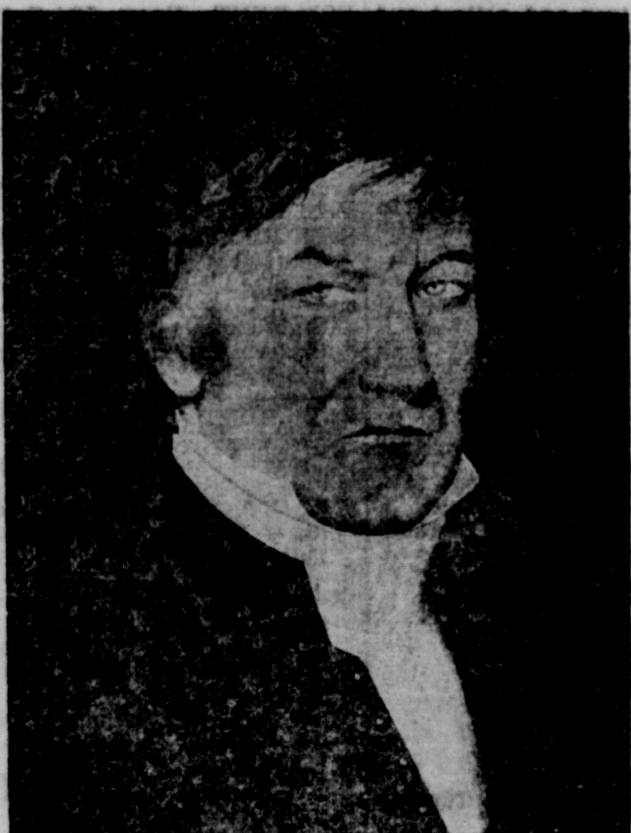

The chief purpose of the society is to preserve local history and traditions. It is affiliated with the State Historical society which has a building adjoining the State Capitol where it maintains a fine historical museum, library and newspaper room, all devoted to Minnesota history. Admission is free and Brainerd visitors in St. Paul will be well repaid by a visit there. Any resident of Minnesota may become a member upon payment of annual dues of $2.00, for which he receives a quarterly magazine on Minnesota history and a bound volume upon some Minnesota subject which would retail for at least $3.00.

Crow Wing county and Brainerd should show some diligence in recording its history before the old settlers who know the facts pass away. For instance, few people know that descendants of one of the most famous American fur traders live here—Mrs. Rose G. Parker, daughter of Mrs. Caroline Grandemeyer, and Mrs. Rachel Morrison, daughters of Allan Morrison who was trading with the Indians at the mouth of the Crow Wing river in the year 1844, two years before Beaulieu established the American Fur Company's post there. Allan Morrison and his brother Wil-

In 1872 and abandoned in 1876 and remained without organization until 1897. In the fall of 1895, petitions were circulated praying for the annexation to Crow Wing county of the portion shown within the fine dotted lines. In February 1896 the petition was considered by the State Annexation Commission. Governor Clough voted against it but State Auditor

Dunn and Secretary of State Berg approved. The governor's proclamation of annexation was then published four weeks in the Brainerd Dispatch. This territory remained a part of Crow Wing county until January 6, 1898, when the state supreme court declared the annexation proceedings illegal and reduced Crow Wing county to its present boundaries. The case was hard fought.

William Morrison, Famous Trader

liam were the original discoverers of Lake Itasca, called by the Indians "Elk Lake," but, owing to the fact that they failed to present the matter to the scientific societies the credit was given to Schoolcraft who did not visit the source of the Mississippi until some years afterward. This is another illustration that it pays to advertise. Morrison county was named after these brothers. The accompanying cut, loaned by the State Historical society, is that of William Morrison.

Brainerd people are also unaware that present day Brainerd contains the seats of two counties—Crow Wing and Cass. For a number of years West Brainerd was the seat of Cass county, with a court house and complete set of county officials. It is also interesting to recall that while Brainerd east of the Mississippi is part of the original thirteen colonies, West Brainerd was formerly a French and Spanish possession, and but for Napoleon being hard up for money to conduct his wars, West Brainerd might be speaking French.

Originally Crow Wing county comprised only the portion now lying south of the Mississippi. In 1887 its area was more than doubled by the addition of its territory north of the Mississippi river, which was taken from the unorganized county of Cass. In 1895 an attempt was made to further enlarge Crow Wing county by taking still more territory from Cass county. At the request of Attorney Hilding Swanson the State Historical society detailed the history of this in its magazine giving the map here published.

Cass county was established in 1851 and Crow Wing county in 1856. In 1870 Crow Wing county was organized. Cass county was organized

OLD SETTLER CATCHES EAGLE

Ole Anderson, 13th Street, Captures Grey Eagle in His Wolf Trap

BIRD SHOWN IN CITY

Eagle Swooped Down to Trap, Ate Rabbit Bait, Caught Next Day by One Talon

Ole Anderson, 13th street, one of the oldest settlers in this county, caught a grey eagle in a wolf trap on Thursday, which he brought to Judd Wright and Son hardware store and is now on display in their windows.

Mr. Anderson, who is a great hunter and woodsman, set two wolf traps rather close together, baiting one with a rabbit. The eagle ate the rabbit out of the one trap, and the following day, Thursday, came back. The other trap was unsprung, and he was caught in it by one talon.

The eagle, which is of the grey eagle variety, and not protected as are the American or Bald eagle, is not common in this vicinity, but is frequently seen by hunters farther north. Several nests are to be seen in the tall burnt stubs on what is known to hunters as the "Old

HISTORICAL SOCIETY TO MEET JANUARY 10

Annual Meeting of County Organization to be Held in Court House, 8 P. M.

HISTORICAL DATA RECALLED

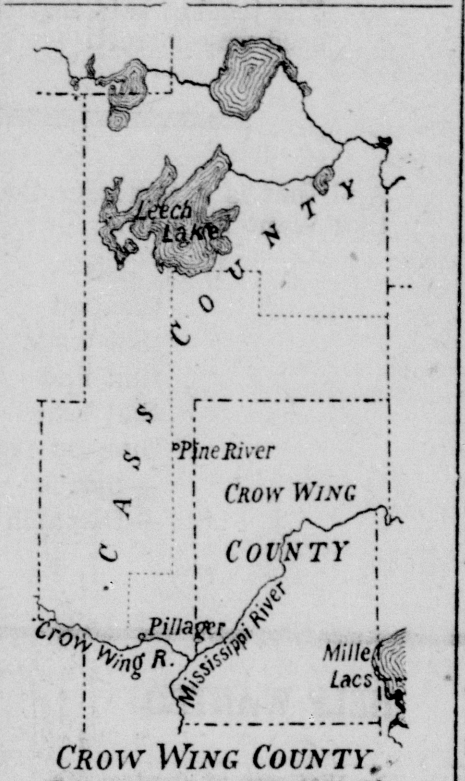

Descendants of Famous Trader Live Here; West Brainerd Once French Territory

The annual meeting of the Crow Wing County Historical society has been set by President S. R. Adair, for Thursday, January 10, at 8 P. M. at the Farmers' room in the court house. All members of the society and all residents of this county interested in local history are urged to be present. The annual dues are fifty cents, upon payment of which any resident can become a member.

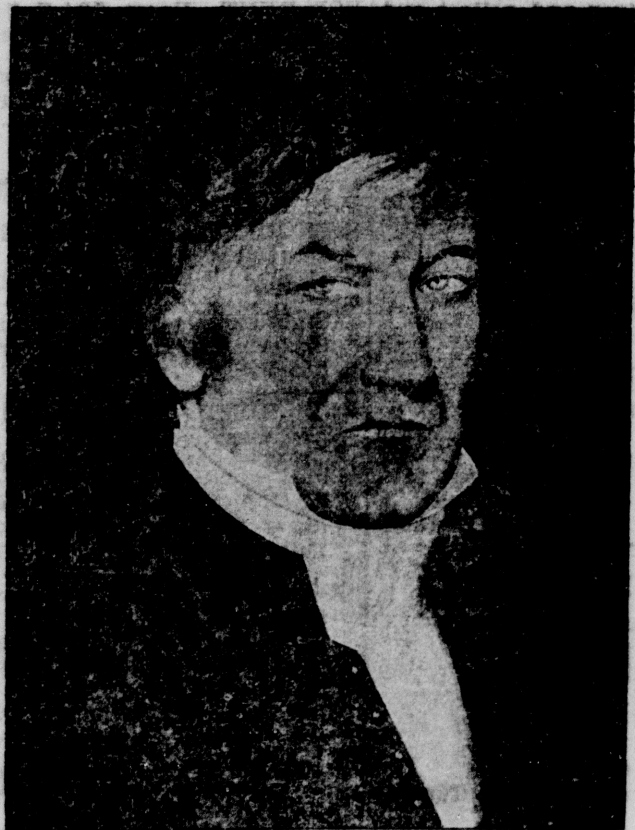

The chief purpose of the society is to preserve local history and traditions. It is affiliated with the State Historical society which has a building adjoining the State Capitol where it maintains a fine historical museum, library and newspaper room, all devoted to Minnesota history. Admission is free and Brainerd visitors in St. Paul will be well repaid by a visit there. Any resident of Minnesota may become a member upon payment of annual dues of $2.00, for which he receives a quarterly magazine on Minnesota history and a bound volume upon some Minnesota subject which would retail for at least $3.00.

Crow Wing county and Brainerd should show some diligence in recording its history before the old settlers who know the facts pass away. For instance, few people know that descendants of one of the most famous American fur traders live here—Mrs. Rose G. Parker, daughter of Mrs. Caroline Grandmeyer, and Mrs. Rachel Morrison, daughters of Allan Morrison who was trading with the Indians at the mouth of the Crow Wing river in the year 1844, two years before Beaulieu established the American Fur Company's post there. Allan Morrison and his brother William were the original discoverers of Lake Itasca, called by the Indians "Elk Lake," but, owing to the fact that they failed to present the matter to the scientific societies the credit was given to Schoolcraft who did not visit the source of the Mississippi until some years afterward. This is another illustration that it pays to advertise. Morrison county was named after these brothers. The accompanying cut, loaned by the State Historical society, is that of William Morrison.

Brainerd people are also unaware that present day Brainerd contains the seats of two counties—Crow Wing and Cass. For a number of years West Brainerd was the seat of Cass county, with a court house and complete set of county officials. It is also interesting to recall that while Brainerd east of the Mississippi is part of the original thirteen colonies, West Brainerd was formerly a French and Spanish possession, and but for Napoleon being hard up for money to conduct his wars, West Brainerd might be speaking French.

Originally Crow Wing county comprised only the portion now lying south of the Mississippi. In 1887 its area was more than doubled by the addition of its territory north of the Mississippi river, which was taken from the unorganized county of Cass. In 1895 an attempt was made to further enlarge Crow Wing county by taking still more territory from Cass county. At the request of Attorney Hilding Swanson the State Historical society detailed the history of this in its magazine giving the map here published.

Cass county was established in 1851 and Crow Wing county in 1856. In 1870 Crow Wing county was organized. Cass county was organized

OLD SETTLER CATCHES EAGLE

Ole Anderson, 13th Street, Captures Grey Eagle in His Wolf Trap

BIRD SHOWN IN CITY

Eagle Swooped Down to Trap, Ate Rabbit Bait, Caught Next Day by One Talon

Ole Anderson, 13th street, one of the oldest settlers in this county, caught a grey eagle in a wolf trap on Thursday, which he brought to Judd Wright and Son hardware store and is now on display in their windows.

Mr. Anderson, who is a great hunter and woodsman, set two wolf traps rather close together, baiting one with a rabbit. The eagle ate the rabbit out of the one trap, and the following day, Thursday, came back. The other trap was unsprung, and he was caught in it by one talon.

The eagle, which is of the grey eagle variety, and not protected as are the American or Bald eagle, is not common in this vicinity, but is frequently seen by hunters farther north. Several nests are to be seen in the tall burnt stubs on what is known to hunters as the "Old

The eagle on display at Judd Wright and Son store has a spread of eight feet. It is in a six foot window, but cannot spread its wings. This variety is not considered vicious.

NEW CHAMPION WRESTLER RECEIVES BELT

SONNENBERG IS VICTOR OVER 'STRANGLER' LEWIS

MATCH TAKES PLACE BEFORE CROWDED MADISON SQUARE GARDEN

FIRST FALL BY FLYING TACKLE. SECOND BY 4 BUMPS IN STOMACH

New York, Jan. 5.—(UP)—The wrestling championship of the world rested on new shoulders today after "Dynamite" Gus Sonnenberg's spectacular victory over Ed "Strangler" Lewis before a crowded Madison Square Garden here last night.

Sonnenberg took his first fall after 29 minutes and 46 seconds, pinning Lewis' shoulders to the mat by employing his famous flying tackle.

The second fall was the weirdest bit of wrestling technique the mat has witnessed in many months. Sonnenberg opened a violent attack on Lewis' abdomen, using his head as a battering ram.

Three times he butted the champion out of the ring and three times Lewis crawled back through the ropes to be greeted by his opponent's head in the pit of the stomach.

Apparently dazed by a fourth bump, the champion remained outside the ropes until Sonnenberg's hand had been raised in token of victory.

The new champion was presented with the $10,000 diamond-studded championship belt.

BRING UP RIGHT OF DEMPSEY TO RETURN TO RING

New York, Jan. 5.—(UP)—The question of Jack Dempsey's return to the ring has been brought forward, prominently again—this time by William Muldoon of the New York athletic commission.

Muldoon, who is honorary member of the Tunney-Muldoon trophy committee and as such would be consulted in naming a heavyweight successor to Gene Tunney's crown, believes Dempsey should be declared champion.

"If Jack had remembered to go to a neutral corner when he knocked Tunney down in their Chicago fight, it might never have been necessary for Gene to announce his retirement," Muldoon said.

The veteran trainer and athletic commissioner said he believed Dempsey better than any of the current crop of heavyweights, but warned that the former champion was prone to overtrain.

WOMEN'S DIVISION OF NATIONAL AMATEUR ATHLETIC FEDERATION

New York, Jan. 5.—(UP)—The women's division of the National Amateur Athletic federation opened the third and final day of its annual convention here today, still undecided as to its stand on participation of women in the 1932 Olympic games.

The organization has definitely stood against competitive sports in the past, and the first two days of the annual meeting here resulted in numerous charges against the way in which the American girls in the 1928 games were handled.

An informal committee appointed to consider the problem reported late yesterday on two plans, neither of which came to a vote. It was considered probable the plans will be discussed today and definite action taken.

U. S. GOLF BODY CONVENES TODAY

New York, Jan. 5.—(UP)—The thirty-fifth annual meeting of the United States Golf association opens here today with delegates from all sections of the country in attendance.

Several matters of importance will be brought before the meeting, it was indicated. Among these are the annual election of officers and the report of the executive committee.

Interest in the report of the executive committee will be increased because of the nation-wide interest in the proposal of the Royal and Ancient Golf association of Great Britain for a smaller and lighter ball.

The greens section of the U. S. G. A. winds up its annual meeting here today. Findlay S. Douglas, who will be named president of the U. S. G. A. today, presided at the greens committee meeting.

Hollywood, Calif., Jan. 5.—(UP)—Eddie Gill defeated Tom Moore in 10 rounds. They are Los Angeles light heavyweights.

TEX RICKARD IS IN CRITICAL CONDITION TODAY

SUFFERS RELAPSE FOLLOWING AN APPENDICITIS OPERATION

CONSULTATION OF SPECIALISTS WAS HELD AT MID-NIGHT

Miami Beach, Fla., Jan. 5.—(UP)—Tex Rickard was in a critical condition at Allison hospital today, having suffered a relapse following an appendicitis operation.

A consultation of specialists was held at midnight, at which time Dr. H. E. Adkins, physician in charge, termed the patient's condition grave. At 7 A. M., however, the hospital announced the famous promoter's condition "remains unchanged."

Miami Beach, Fla., Jan. 5.—The condition of Tex Rickard "remains unchanged," the Allison hospital announced at 7 A. M.

The famous sports promoter's condition following an appendicitis operation took a turn for the worse late yesterday. At midnight his condition was reported critical by Dr. H. E. Adkins, physician in charge.

The United Press correspondent spent the night at the hospital and said attendants informed him before dawn that Rickard "was very slightly improved."

The millionaire promoter was operated on New Year's night and his appendix removed. The next day he evinced an interest in sports news, and a quick recovery for the ex-cowboy was expected.

Jack Dempsey arrived here last night. He had planned to confer with Rickard on his proposed return to the ring.

Miami Beach, Fla., Jan. 5.—Tex Rickard was believed today to have passed the crisis in a relapse after an appendicitis operation, and while the sports promoter's condition remained critical, relief was evident at Allison hospital where he is confined.

An official bulletin issued by Dr. H. E. Adkins, physician in charge, at 8:45 A. M. today, said Rickard's condition "is slightly better" but still critical.

The announcement read: "Mr. Rickard is slightly better this morning, but his condition is still critical. Inflammation has subsided slightly. His pulse is 128. Last night it was 146. His temperature is 102.4. Last night it was 104."

(Signed) "Dr. H. E. Adkins." For the first time since Rickard was taken to the hospital on New Year's Day, Mrs. Rickard left the bedside of her husband. At dawn she gave up her post to Walter Fields, Madison Square Garden associate of Rickard.

Fields said Rickard awoke about 5 A. M. and asked if Jack Dempsey had arrived. Rickard told Fields he felt better than at any time since the operation and asked to have Dempsey who arrived here last night, brought in for a conference this morning.

Doctors attending the promoter, however, will not allow any visitors for several days.

St. Paul, Jan. 5.—(UP)—My Sullivan, St. Paul, defeated Bobby Tracy, Buffalo, N. Y. (10). They weighed in at 146 pounds.

NORTHWESTERN LOOMS AS BEST AMONG TEAMS

8 BIG TEN TEAMS WILL SEE ACTION AGAINST EACH OTHER TONIGHT

WISCONSIN STARTS ITS CONFERENCE SEASON AGAINST MINNESOTA TONIGHT

By BERT DEMBY (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, Jan. 5.—The Western conference basketball schedule gets underway tonight with Northwestern standing out as the team which has shown best in pre-conference games. Eight Big Ten teams will see action against each other in tonight's fray. Chicago will meet Butler in a non-conference affair and Indiana will be idle.

Northwestern, with three of its outstanding stars working in tiptop fashion, will play at Michigan. The game stands out as the headliner because of the pre-season showing of both teams.

Michigan and Northwestern both scored decisive defeats over Penn State and the two teams split even in last year's two encounters.

The Evanston team has won over Wabash, Notre Dame, Pittsburgh and Penn State and the kind of play it has shown against these aggregations rates the Wildcats as favorites to win from the Wolverines.

Illinois and Purdue meet at Lafayette. The Illini have a sophomore named Harper who has shown a wonderful eye for the basket and he may cause some trouble for the Boilermakers.

Wisconsin starts its conference season against Minnesota at Minneapolis and, unless the Gophers show something different from previous form, the Wisconsin team should encounter little trouble in turning in a victory.

Iowa will play host to Ohio and it appears that the Hawkeyes will have a tough time. Iowa has two good scorers.

Butler looks like the winner over Chicago. These Indians play basketball and the Maroons will have to show something good if they expect to turn the game to the right side of their ledger.

JOHNNY DUNDEE, OLD FAVORITE, DOWN IN DEFEAT

CHARLEY PHIL ROSENBERG, A YOUNGSTER, WINS IN PRELIMINARY

MAX SCHEMELING GAINS VICTORY OVER JOE SEKYRA OF DAYTON

By FRANK GETTY (United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Jan. 5.—One of the old favorites of the ring has been turned aside once more as unfit.

Johnny Dundee, formerly champion of both the featherweight and junior lightweight divisions, went down to defeat last night before Charley Phil Rosenberg, a youngster, himself essaying a come-back and some 15 years Johnny's junior.

The result of this preliminary bout in Madison Square Garden was much more important than that in the main event, despite the fact that Max Schmeling, a most promising young German heavyweight, won his way into the elimination tournament by a victory over Joe Sekyra of Dayton.

Dundee shouldn't be fighting these days, but he needs the money. And so he went into the ring last night in a preliminary bout, against another ex-champion, also degraded by circumstance, to earn a paltry few hundred dollars.

Dundee simply didn't have the stuff, and Rosenberg punched him around the ring from start to finish, the crowd being with Johnny but the judges' verdict inevitably going to his conqueror.

As for Schmeling, it may as well be said frankly that he is by far the most promising and prominent heavy weight contender who has come to these shores in many a day. He has a fast left hand, a straight right, and a bobbing, weaving style which are pleasantly reminiscent of Jack Dempsey at his best.

Right now he ranks with any three of the best heavyweight contenders in this or any other country. His next bout should be awaited with interest, for if he continues he will be battling the best of them, and possibly upsetting some of the best laid plans of promoters.

FIGHT RESULTS

Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 5.—(UP)—Mike Santovich of Prescott defeated George Marcus of San Antonio, Tex. (10).

Chicago, Jan. 5.—(UP)—Eddie Shae, Chicago featherweight, stopped Tony Mandell of Boston, last night in the third round of a scheduled ten round bout. Al Greenfield, Chicago, won a decision from Dixie La Hood of St. Paul (8).

FRAZEE SCORES TOUCHDOWN TO DEFEAT BRAINERD

DROP KICKS FOR POINT AFTER TO WIN HECTIC CAGE GAME BY 27-20

BRAINERD PLAYERS ARE BADLY BRUISED FROM ROUGH TREATMENT ACCORDED THEM

The Frazee team defeated the Brainerd American Legion basketball squad last evening by pushing over a touchdown in the last cantata and following through by scoring the point after touchdown by a drop kick to win by the count of 27 to 20.

It was the roughest game the Brainerd team has ever had the opportunity or misfortune to compete in.

An unbiased fan witnessing the game remarked that the Frazee boys with their tactics, resembled a football team in the best of condition.

The fans of Frazee were very disappointed in the treatment given Brainerd and showed their disapproval as the game progressed into a slaughter by razzing the referee. At one stage of the game the official fouled the crowd, giving Frazee a free throw.

Later Whitlock lost out on one free throw when the Frazee team played the ball on the first throw after the Brainerd center had been given two free throws by the referee after Blaine had hacked him in shooting.

The Brainerd team was very much bruised today and it is doubtful if the players will be in shape for the Tuesday game at Moose Lake.

On four plays out of bounds the Brainerd team scored four field goals and at each time play was called back as the opponent was not three feet back of the playing court.

Unfairness was displayed throughout the entire game as Brainerd played against unmountable odds to overcome rough playing and biased officiating.

Arrangements were made to play a return game with a referee from Detroit Lakes to officiate.

The box score follows:

NEW CHAMPION WRESTLER RECEIVES BELT

SONNENBERG IS VICTOR OVER 'STRANGLER' LEWIS

MATCH TAKES PLACE BEFORE CROWDED MADISON SQUARE GARDEN

FIRST FALL BY FLYING TACKLE. SECOND BY 4 BUMPS IN STOMACH

New York, Jan. 5.—(UP)—The wrestling championship of the world rested on new shoulders today after "Dynamite" Gus Sonnenberg's spectacular victory over Ed "Strangler" Lewis before a crowded Madison Square Garden here last night.

Sonnenberg took his first fall after 29 minutes and 46 seconds, pinning Lewis' shoulders to the mat by employing his famous flying tackle. The second fall was the weirdest bit of wrestling technique the mat has witnessed in many months. Sonnenberg opened a violent attack on Lewis' abdomen, using his head as a battering ram.

Three times he butted the champion out of the ring and three times Lewis crawled back through the ropes to be greeted by his opponent's head in the pit of the stomach.

Apparently dazed by a fourth bump, the champion remained outside the ropes until Sonnenberg's hand had been raised in token of victory.

The new champion was presented with the $10,000 diamond-studded championship belt.

BRING UP RIGHT OF DEMPSEY TO RETURN TO RING

New York, Jan. 5.—(UP)—The question of Jack Dempsey's return to the ring has been brought forward, prominently again—this time by William Muldoon of the New York athletic commission.

Muldoon, who is honorary member of the Tunney-Muldoon trophy committee and as such would be consulted in naming a heavyweight successor to Gene Tunney's crown, believes Dempsey should be declared champion.

"If Jack had remembered to go to a neutral corner when he knocked Tunney down in their Chicago fight, it might never have been necessary for Gene to announce his retirement," Muldoon said.

The veteran trainer and athletic commissioner said he believed Dempsey better than any of the current crop of heavyweights, but warned that the former champion was prone to overtrain.

WOMEN'S DIVISION OF NATIONAL AMATEUR ATHLETIC FEDERATION

New York, Jan. 5.—(UP)—The women's division of the National Amateur Athletic federation opened the third and final day of its annual convention here today, still undecided as to its stand on participation of women in the 1932 Olympic games.

The organization has definitely stood against competitive sports in the past, and the first two days of the annual meeting here resulted in numerous charges against the way in which the American girls in the 1928 games were handled.

An informal committee appointed to consider the problem reported late yesterday on two plans, neither of which came to a vote. It was considered probable the plans will be discussed today and definite action taken.

U. S. GOLF BODY CONVENES TODAY

New York, Jan. 5.—(UP)—The thirty-fifth annual meeting of the United States Golf association opens here today with delegates from all sections of the country in attendance.

Several matters of importance will be brought before the meeting, it was indicated. Among these are the annual election of officers and the report of the executive committee.

Interest in the report of the executive committee will be increased because of the nation-wide interest in the proposal of the Royal and Ancient Golf association of Great Britain for a smaller and lighter ball.

The greens section of the U. S. G. A. winds up its annual meeting here today. Findlay S. Douglas, who will be named president of the U. S. G. A. today, presided at the greens committee meeting.

Hollywood, Calif., Jan. 5.—(UP)—Eddie Gill defeated Tom Moore in 10 rounds. They are Los Angeles light heavyweights.

TEX RICKARD IS IN CRITICAL CONDITION TODAY

SUFFERS RELAPSE FOLLOWING AN APPENDICITIS OPERATION

CONSULTATION OF SPECIALISTS WAS HELD AT MID-NIGHT

Miami Beach, Fla., Jan. 5.—(UP)—Tex Rickard was in a critical condition at Allison hospital today, having suffered a relapse following an appendicitis operation.

A consultation of specialists was held at midnight, at which time Dr. H. E. Adkins, physician in charge, termed the patient's condition grave. At 7 A. M., however, the hospital announced the famous promoter's condition "remains unchanged."

Miami Beach, Fla., Jan. 5.—The condition of Tex Rickard "remains unchanged," the Allison hospital announced at 7 A. M.

The famous sports promoter's condition following an appendicitis operation took a turn for the worse late yesterday. At midnight his condition was reported critical by Dr. H. E. Adkins, physician in charge.

The United Press correspondent spent the night at the hospital and said attendants informed him before dawn that Rickard "was very slightly improved."

The millionaire promoter was operated on New Year's night and his appendix removed. The next day he evinced an interest in sports news, and a quick recovery for the ex-cowboy was expected.

Jack Dempsey arrived here last night. He had planned to confer with Rickard on his proposed return to the ring.

Miami Beach, Fla., Jan. 5.—Tex Rickard was believed today to have passed the crisis in a relapse after an appendicitis operation, and while the sports promoter's condition remained critical, relief was evident at Allison hospital where he is confined.

An official bulletin issued by Dr. H. E. Adkins, physician in charge, at 8:45 A. M. today, said Rickard's condition "is slightly better" but still critical.

The announcement read:

"Mr. Rickard is slightly better this morning, but his condition is still critical. Inflammation has subsided slightly. His pulse is 128. Last night it was 146. His temperature is 102.4. Last night it was 104.

(Signed) "Dr. H. E. Adkins." For the first time since Rickard was taken to the hospital on New Year's Day, Mrs. Rickard left the bedside of her husband. At dawn she gave up her post to Walter Fields, Madison Square Garden associate of Rickard.

Fields said Rickard awoke about 5 A. M. and asked if Jack Dempsey had arrived. Rickard told Fields he felt better than at any time since the operation and asked to have Dempsey who arrived here last night, brought in for a conference this morning.

Doctors attending the promoter, however, will not allow any visitors for several days.

St. Paul, Jan. 5.—(UP)—My Sullivan, St. Paul, defeated Bobby Tracy, Buffalo, N. Y. (10). They weighed in at 146 pounds.

NORTHWESTERN LOOMS AS BEST AMONG TEAMS

8 BIG TEN TEAMS WILL SEE ACTION AGAINST EACH OTHER TONIGHT

WISCONSIN STARTS ITS CONFERENCE SEASON AGAINST MINNESOTA TONIGHT

By BERT DEMBY (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, Jan. 5.—The Western conference basketball schedule gets underway tonight with Northwestern standing out as the team which has shown best in pre-conference games. Eight Big Ten teams will see action against each other in tonight's fray. Chicago will meet Butler in a non-conference affair and Indiana will be idle.

Northwestern, with three of its outstanding stars working in tiptop fashion, will play at Michigan. The game stands out as the headliner because of the pre-season showing of both teams.

Michigan and Northwestern both scored decisive defeats over Penn State and the two teams split even in last year's two encounters.

The Evanston team has won over Wabash, Notre Dame, Pittsburgh and Penn State and the kind of play it has shown against these aggregations rates the Wildcats as favorites to win from the Wolverines.

Illinois and Purdue meet at Lafayette. The Illini have a sophomore named Harper who has shown a wonderful eye for the basket and he may cause some trouble for the Boilermakers.

Wisconsin starts its conference season against Minnesota at Minneapolis and, unless the Gophers show something different from previous form, the Wisconsin team should encounter little trouble in turning in a victory. Iowa will play host to Ohio and it appears that the Hawkeyes will have a tough time. Iowa has two good scorers.

Butler looks like the winner over Chicago. These Indians play basketball and the Maroons will have to show something good if they expect to turn the game to the right side of their ledger.

JOHNNY DUNDEE, OLD FAVORITE, DOWN IN DEFEAT

CHARLEY PHIL ROSENBERG, A YOUNGSTER, WINS IN PRELIMINARY

MAX SCHMELING GAINS VICTORY OVER JOE SEKYRA OF DAYTON

By FRANK GETTY (United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Jan. 5.—One of the old favorites of the ring has been turned aside once more as unfit.

Johnny Dundee, formerly champion of both the featherweight and junior lightweight divisions, went down to defeat last night before Charley Phil Rosenberg, a youngster, himself essaying a come-back and some 15 years Johnny's junior.

The result of this preliminary bout in Madison Square Garden was much more important than that in the main event, despite the fact that Max Schmeling, a most promising young German heavyweight, won his way into the elimination tournament by a victory over Joe Sekyra of Dayton.

Dundee shouldn't be fighting these days, but he needs the money. And so he went into the ring last night in a preliminary bout, against another ex-champion, also degraded by circumstance, to earn a paltry few hundred dollars.

Dundee simply didn't have the stuff, and Rosenberg punched him around the ring from start to finish, the crowd being with Johnny but the judges' verdict inevitably going to his conqueror.

As for Schmeling, it may as well be said frankly that he is by far the most promising and prominent heavyweight contender who has come to these shores in many a day. He has a fast left hand, a straight right, and a bobbing, weaving style which are pleasantly reminiscent of Jack Dempsey at his best.

Right now he ranks with any three of the best heavyweight contenders in this or any other country. His next bout should be awaited with interest, for if he continues he will be battling the best of them, and possibly upsetting some of the best laid plans of promoters.

FIGHT RESULTS

Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 5.—(UP)—Mike Santovich of Prescott defeated George Marcus of San Antonio, Tex. (10).

Chicago, Jan. 5.—(UP)—Eddie Shae, Chicago featherweight, stopped Tony Mandell of Boston, last night in the third round of a scheduled ten round bout. Al Greenfield, Chicago, won a decision from Dixie La Hood of St. Paul (8).

FRAZEE SCORES TOUCHDOWN TO DEFEAT BRAINERD

DROP KICKS FOR POINT AFTER TO WIN HECTIC CAGE GAME BY 27-20

BRAINERD PLAYERS ARE BADLY BRUISED FROM ROUGH TREATMENT ACCORDED THEM

The Frazee team defeated the Brainerd American Legion basketball squad last evening by pushing over a touchdown in the last cantata and following through by scoring the point after touchdown by a drop kick to win by the count of 27 to 20.

It was the roughest game the Brainerd team has ever had the opportunity or misfortune to compete in.

An unbiased fan witnessing the game remarked that the Frazee boys with their tactics, resembled a football team in the best of condition.

The fans of Frazee were very disappointed in the treatment given Brainerd and showed their disapproval as the game progressed into a slaughter by razzing the referee. At one stage of the game the official fouled the crowd, giving Frazee a free throw.

Later Whitlock lost out on one free throw when the Frazee team played the ball on the first throw after the Brainerd center had been given two free throws by the referee after Blaine had hacked him in shooting.

The Brainerd team was very much bruised today and it is doubtful if the players will be in shape for the Tuesday game at Moose Lake.

On four plays out of bounds the Brainerd team scored four field goals and at each time play was called back as the opponent was not three feet back of the playing court.

Unfairness was displayed throughout the entire game as Brainerd played against unmountable odds to overcome rough playing and biased officiating.

Arrangements were made to play a return game with a referee from Detroit Lakes to officiate.

The box score follows:

MAGAZINE SALESMAN IS TOO INSISTENT

Minneapolis, Jan. 5.—(UP)—A student magazine salesman who would not take "no" for an answer was fined $25 in municipal court on a charge of assault and battery. The fine was imposed upon F. F. Frederick, after Mrs. Zoe Schendler said he struck her when she refused to subscribe to magazines.

She's Best All-Around Mermaid

In spite of the fact that she's but 15, Eleanor Holm (above), member of the Women's Swimming Association, has earned the title of greatest all-around girl swimmer of 1928. She has nearly a score of records to her credit.
